Pupil Mobile Device Policy

In today's digital world, communications and content are available almost anywhere at any time. Gone are the days when mobile phones could only be used for making phone calls. They are now multi-functional, smart devices which can be used for browsing the internet, email, texting, mobile applications, social networking, photography and video.

From an end-user perspective, mobile phone usage by staff and pupils for out-of-school social purposes has been established for many years. As mobile phones have increased in sophistication, more care has to be taken with the usage of mobile smart type devices within school. In particular, the ability for most mobile phones to connect to the internet, via the mobile phone provider, means that pupils are now able to access, download and upload content on school premises without using the school ICT network and the associated safeguards it has in place.

In addition, it is increasingly common for mobile phones and other handheld devices (such as portable music players, Smart Watches and portable gaming devices) to be able to connect to any open wireless access points from neighbouring buildings. These types of devices, if usage is not managed appropriately, pose serious challenges for schools who are trying to safeguard pupil use of the internet within school. However, as with most new technologies, used in a positive way they can provide new and exciting ways to promote learning and teaching within lessons.

Some of the issues related to the use of personally owned mobile devices within school are:

- They are valuable items which can be lost, stolen or damaged.
- When used inappropriately cyberbullying incidents can take place.
- Internet access on phones and personal devices can allow pupils to bypass school internet filtering platforms.
- They can disrupt classroom activities by being used in silent mode.
- Mobile phones with integrated cameras could lead to child protection, bullying and data protection issues with regards to inappropriate capture, use or distribution of images of pupils or staff.
- Mobile phones may be used to sexually harass peers, share indecent images consensually and non-consensually and view and share pornography and other harmful content
- Making disrespectful comments, misrepresenting events or making defamatory remarks about teachers or other pupils
- Pupils phoning parents immediately following an incident so that the ability of staff to deal with an incident is compromised
- Pupils posting material on social network sites with no thought to the risks to their personal reputation and sometimes with the deliberate intention of causing harm to others
- The deliberate engineering of situations where people's reactions are filmed or photographed in order to humiliate, embarrass and intimidate by publishing to a wider audience such as on social media websites.

St John's Pupil Mobile Device Policy

- Only boys in Years 7-8 are permitted to bring mobile phones to School unless there are extenuating circumstances.
- No pupil is allowed a mobile phone on the school premises without prior consent from the Deputy

- Mobile phones will not be used during lessons or formal school time unless as part of an approved and directed curriculum-based activity with consent from a member of staff.
- At the end of their school day, when the child is ready to be picked up by their parents, the phone should be collected by the pupil from the office.
- If a parent or guardian is late then the pupil may ask the duty teacher for permission to use their phone in the playground to make contact with them. It is not to be used for any other reason whatsoever.
- If a pupil breaches the School policy then the phone will be confiscated and will be held in the Deputy Head (Pastoral) office. Mobile phones will only be released to parents or carers thereafter.
- Any pupil caught in possession of a mobile phone will be placed in the next available Friday after school detention with the Deputy Head (Pastoral).
- If a pupil needs to contact their parents or carers during the school day, they will be allowed to use a school phone in the office. Parents must not attempt to contact their child via their mobile phone during the school day, but should contact the school office.
